Adjudicator

Richard Deering

Richard studied piano and trumpet at Trinity College of Music with Frank Merrick and Norman Burgess respectively and has been an adjudicator member of the British and International Federation of Festivals for nearly 40 years, adjudicating at an average of 12 festivals a year, including large overseas festivals - such as Hong Kong, Sri Lanka, Trinidad and Gibraltar - as both a piano and brass specialist and music generalist. He has given piano performances - as soloist, ensemble-player and accompanist - in over 90 countries, played in numerous brass bands and has held teaching positions in establishments such as London College of Music, Trinity College of Music, Middlesex University, Avery Hill College of Education, Auckland University, Cambridge University and New York State University. He has also been highly involved in the setting and examining of the Trinity piano grade and diploma syllabus for over 20 years and has also written books and for magazines upon British piano music, much of which he has also commercially recorded. During the last years of Regional Arts Associations, Richard acted as an Advisor to the London Arts Board on contemporary music and jazz.

Richard's Federation work has included serving twice on the Central Board of Trustees, interviewing and training of new adjudicators, Vice-Chair of the Adjudicator's Council and with the administration of the PGCA qualification as Chief Assessor. During his time on the Adjudicator's Council and Central Board of Trustees he was also co-author of the assessment criteria that is still used by all Federation adjudicators at Federation festivals. He also served as Chairman of Croydon Performing Arts Festival, through a major period of modernisation and restructuring, since 2013. www.impulse-music.co.uk
